As a state agency, Mass Cultural Council works to elevate our rich cultural life in Massachusetts. We partner with communities across the Commonwealth to expand access, improve education, promote diversity, and encourage excellence in the arts, humanities, and sciences. Through our efforts, we make our state a better place to live, work, and visit for everyone.

This is the power of culture.
An investment for our Commonwealth 2020

Vibrant cities and towns. Children experiencing the delight of discovery. Our icons of liberty preserved and celebrated. Our science museums, helping us understand our world and inspiring a new generation to make it better.

This is the power of culture.

Mass Cultural Council works to unleash this power across the Commonwealth. As a state agency, we promote excellence, inclusion, education, and diversity in the arts, humanities, and sciences to foster a rich cultural life for all Massachusetts residents and contribute to the vitality of our communities and economy. We pursue this mission through a wide range of grants, initiatives, and advocacy for artists, communities, organizations, and schools.

Working through the arts, humanities, and sciences, culture is a dynamic force for enriching communities, growing the economy, increasing accessibility, and fostering individual creativity. Culture is intrinsically valuable and unique in its ability to lift the human spirit.

Realizing this vision will require resources. Funding for Mass Cultural Council comes from annual appropriations from the Commonwealth, grants from the National Endowment for the Arts, and other sources. The pages that follow illustrate the impact of our current investments.

A rich cultural life plays an essential role in healthy communities, good schools, and a strong economy. To invest in our cultural life is to invest in our shared future.

Sincerely,

Anita Walker
Executive Director
Mass Cultural Council

“To invest in our cultural life is to invest in our shared future.”
— ANITA WALKER, EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR, MASS CULTURAL COUNCIL
Our Universal Participation (UP) Initiative developed a cohort of over 60 organizations committed to the principles of universal design. Through the distinct learning and funding opportunities within the UP Initiative, more than 100 people with disabilities have been hired as leaders and consultants.

In 2019, Mass Cultural Council introduced CultureRx: an initiative that advances the role of culture as a protective factor for the health and well-being of everyone in the Commonwealth. We also continued our progress on our Diversity, Equity, and Inclusion Plan, which honors the breadth and diversity of cultural expression across the Commonwealth.

In 2019, Mass Cultural Council’s state-designated Cultural Districts launched Fair Saturday Mass – joining a global cultural movement with a social impact and becoming the first state in the nation to participate in Fair Saturday.

“Being able to hear is not a prerequisite for being a skilled performer. My dream is to be an actor and inspire the world through storytelling. The public investment in cultural access is essential for all people. We all need exposure to, and experience with, arts and culture.”

– EJ, BOSTON-BASED DEAF ACTOR AND DIRECTOR

The EBT Card to Culture has provided 368,506 free or discounted admissions to Mass residents of limited means since the program’s inception in 2017. More than 240 sites participate in the program.2

244 festivals were funded by the Council, providing 697,914 attendees free or low-cost experiences across the Commonwealth.1

“Culture embraces everyone. We are making culture inclusive and welcoming to everyone in Massachusetts – as creators, participants, or audiences – and free of barriers, whether physical, educational, or societal. Why? Because, as our state grows more diverse, culture helps us build relationships across ethnic, racial, and generational lines. It makes our community stronger.

Culture enriches our communities.

Culture is integral to quality of life: it engages residents, connects neighbors, and gives people compelling reasons to spend time—and money—in cities and towns across Massachusetts. That’s why the American Planning Association identifies culture as a primary tool for community revitalization.

In a 2019 study the World Health Organization demonstrated that participation in the arts and culture can impact health and well-being. Research shows that the arts:

- Affect the social determinants of health
- Support child development
- Encourage healthy behaviors
- Address negative impacts of social isolation and loneliness

Local Funding, Local People
Local Cultural Councils provide grants in all 351 Massachusetts cities and towns.
LCCs fund 6,278 projects across the Commonwealth with a median grant size of $400.

3 out of 4 Massachusetts residents participate in at least one cultural event each month, higher than the national average.

Our cultural organizations offer more than 49,833 public events each year; an average of 137 a day.

Culture drives growth and opportunity.

The economic impact of culture goes way beyond state revenue and job creation. Culture also propels urban development, ignites innovation and creativity, and attracts the skilled workforce Massachusetts needs to compete on the global stage.

The creative economy thrives on vibrant communities, diversity, and inspiration. Massachusetts and Boston are a haven for progressive, creative-minded people and that’s what makes this state a great place to recruit and retain talent. Mass is a place where talented people have the freedom to be their most creative.”

— Joy Howard, former CMO of Sonos and Lift

Focus on Employment
HireCulture.org, our creative employment website, is used by over 1,500 creative organizations with nearly 3,000 jobs posted for free each year.11

Billion

in economic impact for Massachusetts.

Each year, cultural nonprofits spend $1.5 billion directly into the economy; and generate $877 million in indirect spending by visitors – totaling $2.3 billion.9

When the state invests $16 million into the Mass Cultural Council, the Cultural sector sends $128 million back into state coffers.10 These funds help pay for transportation, education, and other public services – an eight to one return on taxpayers’ investment in the Council.

Culture empowers a new generation.

More than arts education, culture is crucial to developing creative, productive, and independent-minded young people in Massachusetts – people who are ready to succeed in the global economy. Chances are tomorrow’s big entrepreneurs are earning their chops today in creative youth development programs.

80% of creative youth development participants plan for post-secondary education.14

“Arts and culture are a form of liberation. Once young people have access and exposure to art, they are able to build a foundation of self, and then expand their minds and eyes to the social landscape, identify issues in their communities, and use art to come up with creative solutions for those issues.”

— Marquis Victor, Founding Executive Director of Elevated Thought

“It’s more than just creating art, it’s creating a place to call home.”

— Kelly, Creative Youth Development Alum

111,262 children are engaged in education by Mass Cultural Council grantees.15

Regardless of economic status, students who study the arts in school have lower dropout rates, higher GPAs, and better scores in math and language on standardized tests.17

Investing in culture.

The numbers tell the story: culture is a powerful force for bettering our communities, growing our economy, creating opportunities, and developing a new creative generation. But there’s more to culture than statistics. We believe that our cultural life is essential to our quality of life in Massachusetts. Culture elevates us, expands our perspective, and, in the words of Albert Einstein, “leads [us] toward freedom.” We can’t think of a better investment than that.

Leveraging public and private investment

For every $1 Mass Cultural Council grants is raised by grantees.
What you can do.

1. Get informed. Mass Cultural Council funds dozens of programs and initiatives that have a profound impact in the lives of residents across the Commonwealth. This report shows only a sample: visit massculturalcouncil.org to learn more.

2. Start a conversation. Find out what’s happening in the cultural life of your community. Talk to local employers, educators, engaged residents, and visitors. Ask them what culture means to them in their day-to-day lives.

3. Stay connected. You play an integral role in creating and supporting a rich, accessible cultural life in Massachusetts. Without you, we stand to lose everything that culture brings to our communities, to the state and local economies, and to our children. We believe in the power of culture. Will you?
